COURSE DESCRIPTION

| Course code | Course group | Volume in ECTS credits |  |
|-------------|--------------|------------------------|--|
| VAD4003     | C            | 6                      |  |

| Course type (compulsory or optional) | Optional                |
|--------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| Course level (study cycle)           | Bachelor studies |
| Semester the course is delivered     | 5                       |
| Study form (face-to-face or distant) | Face-to-face            |

Course title in Lithuanian

Verslo komunikacijos

Course title in English

Business communication

Short course annotation in Lithuanian (up to 500 symbols)

Dalyko paskirtis - įtvirtinti, išplėsti ir praktiškai pritaikyti žinias, įgytas verslo anglų kalbos kurso metu. Dalyke pateikiami teoriniai ir praktiniai verslo komunikacijos aspektai – efektyvūs susirinkimai ir derybos, pristatymai, verslo korespondencija, kultūriniai skirtumai ir jų įtaka sėkmingam verslui, tarpasmeninės komunikacijos ypatumai ir tt.

Short course annotation in English (up to 500 symbols)

The aim of this course is to consolidate, expand and practically apply students' knowledge of Business English with a particular focus on communication in business. The course includes the theoretical and practical aspects of spoken business language and written communication, namely effective business meetings and negotiations, presentations, business correspondence, cultural peculiarities, interpersonal communication etc. Students have collaborative and individual listening, speaking, reading and writing practice in different contexts of management, business administration and economics.

Prerequisites for entering the course

Levels C1 and C2 of the English language (according to the Common European Language Framework)

Course aim

To teach students practical application of the knowledge acquired in the course of Business Communication with respect to interpersonal and intercultural communication aspects in business context.

Links between study program outcomes, course outcomes, criteria of learning achievement evaluation, study methods, and learning evaluation methods

| study methods, and learning evaluation methods  |  |   |   |  |
|---|--|---|---|--|
| Study program   | Course outcomes  | Criteria of learning  | Study   | Evaluation   |
| outcomes  | Course outcomes  | achievement evaluation  | methods   | methods  |
|   | 1. To distinguish the features of an effective presentation and prepare it individually and in a group | A student is able to distinguish at least half of the features of an effective presentation and prepares it individually and in a group following no less than half of the given requirements | Teaching methods: an interactive lecture employing visual material for illustration; consulting (via                                      | Written tests;evaluation ofseminar tasks(preparation andpresentation);assessment ofgroup workpreparation and |
| 5. Ability to communicate in the languages of European countries in the context of professional activity, produce and deliver economic and business information to various audiences, present personal opinion, participate in negotiations | 2. To define the peculiarities of the oral business language and written communication                 | A student is able to defineat least half of thepeculiarities of the oralbusiness language andwritten communication  | IT as well);formulation ofproblemexamples andquestions andtheir analysis;case analysis;discussion             | presentation   |
|   | 3. To write a business letter, a memorandum, to prepare an invoice, etc.                               | A student is able to write a business letter, a memorandum, to prepare an invoice, etc. following no less than half of the given requirements   | moderation;formulation andexplanation oftasks.Study methods:formulation andanalysis ofproblemexamples and |  |

| 4. To define t business mee   | he types of tings t                               | A student is able to define the types of business meetings following no less than half of the given requirements   | questions; discussion; consultation with the lecturer; preparation for seminars and discussion about  |
|---|---|--|---|
| 5. To determine features of connegotiations at their effective proper negotial.   | nstructive and assess eness, select ation methods | A student is able to determine the features of constructive negotiations, possible negotiation problems and assess negotiation effectiveness following no less than half of the given criteria | the accomplished tasks in a group; practical tasks (individual and group) with the help of IT; simulations; public speaking; self-reflection; |
| 6. To distingupeculiarities oflanguage andlanguage  | of everyday business l                            | A student is able to distinguish every-day and business language peculiarities and applies them sufficiently in practical activity   | team and individual work in preparation of projects; independent search for study resources and   |
| 7. To analyse independently effectively ap theoretical management of the project | y and siply it aterial tindividual or             | A student demonstrates sufficient skills of independent analysis of theoretical material   | informationanalysis.  |

Links between course outcomes and content

| Course outcomes   | Content (topics)   |
|---|--|
| To distinguish the features of an effective presentation and prepare it individually and in a group                         | Presentation types     Preparation for a presentation     Presentation planning, organisation and selection of visual aids     Peculiarities of individual and group presentations     Problem situation analysis                  |
| 2. To define the peculiarities of the oral business language and written communication                                      | <ul> <li>6. The peculiarities of the oral business language and written communication</li> <li>7. Presentations, meetings, negotiations, telephone conversations video-conferences.</li> <li>8. Business correspondence</li> </ul> |
| 3. To write a business letter, a memorandum, to prepare an invoice, etc.  | 9. Formats and kinds of business correspondence: a business letter, a memorandum, an invoice, a CV, a job application, etc.  |
| 4. To define the types of business meetings   | <ul><li>10. Types of business meetings.</li><li>11. Meeting planning and organisation.</li></ul>   |
| 5. To determine the features of constructive negotiations and assess their effectiveness, select proper negotiation methods | <ul><li>12. The features of constructive negotiations</li><li>13. Negotiation planning, organisation and participation;</li><li>negotiation assessment criteria;</li></ul>   |
| 6. To distinguish the peculiarities of everyday language and business language  | <ul><li>14. Business terminology (according to topics); idioms; language structures</li><li>15. Formal and informal styles</li></ul>   |
| 7. To analyse independently and effectively apply theoretical material necessary for individual or group project            | 16. The principles of search and application of theoretical material.  |

| Lectures                 | 30 hours  |
|--------------------------|-----------|
| Seminars                 | 30 hours  |
| Individual students work | 100 hours |
| Total:                   | 160 hours |

Structure of cumulative score and value of its constituent parts

Mid-term-20%Individual work - 20% Seminar tasks – 10% Exam - 50%

Recommended reference materials

| No. | Publicati               | ti Authors of publication and title Publishing house                        |                          | Number of copies in                          |  |  |
|-----|-------------------------|---|--------------------------|--|--|--|
|     | on year                 | rations of publication and title  | 1 donshing house         | University library                           |  |  |
|     | Basic materials         |   |                          |  |  |  |
| 1.  | 2012                    | Birkin J. Business Advantage  | Cambridge                | 4  |  |  |
| 2.  | 2009                    | Locker K., Kaczmarek S. BusinessCommunication: Building Critical Skills | McGraw-Hill              | Ordered                                      |  |  |
| 3.  | 2009                    | Dignen B., Chamberline J. Intercultural Skills                              | SummertownPublishing | Cases from the book are placed in the Moodle |  |  |
|     | Supplementary materials |   |                          |  |  |  |
| 1.  | 2006                    | Dale P., Wolf J.C. Speech Communication Made                                | Pearson,                 |  |  |  |
| 1.  | 2000                    | Simple  | Longman                  |  |  |  |

Course programme designed by
Lecturer Edita Bartnikaitė, VMU Institute of Foreign Languages