

APPROVED
by Decision No. 1 of the meeting No. 03 of 27
February 2024 of the Doctoral Committee of Vytautas Magnus University and Mykolas Romeris
University in Psychology science field

Competition of dissertation topics and supervisors of PhD students in Psychology science field 2024

Competition of dissertation topics

On 1 March a competition is announced for dissertation topics in Psychology science field (S 006) in the following research thematic areas:

- Research on psychological and behavioural factors contributing to the development of the disease, health promotion and rehabilitation success.
- Psychological well-being: analysis of causality and interaction with biopsychosocial factors.
- Analysis of the psychological and social causes and consequences of tobacco, alcohol and other addictive substance use, suicidal and other risky behaviours among children, adolescents and adults, and research on the effectiveness of prevention measures.
- Analysis of the psychosocial development, adaptation, effectiveness of the learning process and the social and cognitive factors that determine them for people of different ages.
- Psychological analysis of human resource management and research into the psychological preconditions for economic well-being.

Dissertation topics can be formulated more broadly, and several dissertations can be prepared from one topic.

Dissertation topics may be proposed by researchers or research groups.

A proposal of the dissertation topic must be submitted for the competition.

The proposals can be submitted from 1 March to 17 April.

Competition of supervisors of PhD students

On 1 March a competition of supervisors of PhD students is announced.

A PhD supervisor must meet the requirements of a senior researcher (at the institution where the researcher works) and participate in the doctoral process and international research activities.

A researcher may supervise no more than five PhD students at the same time (including those on academic leave).

The applications can be submitted from 1 March to 17 April.

The following documents are submitted for the competition of supervisors of PhD students:

- application for participation in the competition;
- curriculum vitae;
- list of scientific publications and other activities.

The applications for the competition of dissertation topics and PhD supervisors are accepted:

Vytautas Magnus University

Doctoral School

Research and Innovation Department

Universiteto g. 8A-203, Akademija, Kauno raj., Lithuania

Contact person: Rasa Andrišiūnaitė, email:

doktorantura@vdu.lt, tel. +370 37 209 815, +370 619 21615

Mykolas Romeris University

Social Innovations Doctoral School

Research and Innovation Centre

Didlaukio g. 55-404, LT-08303 Vilnius, Lithuania

Contact person: Radvilė Lapinskaitė, email: radvile.lapinskaite@mruni.eu, tel. +370 5 271 4459

The Committee's decision on the winning dissertation topics and supervisors of PhD students will be announced by 2 May 2024.